

“Will the apartment still be available when they meet me in person?”

Telling you that the apartment is “no longer available” may be instead a landlord’s unwillingness to accommodate disabilities, such as allowing for a guide dog.

The law protects your right to live where you want. If you feel you’ve been discriminated against because of your disability, call 1-800-669-9777.

